

REFORMER CONTROLS

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method of controlling temperature at a fuel reformer comprises sensing the temperature at the fuel reformer and adding air to the fuel reformer. A dual air actuator system for use with a fuel reformer comprises air control valves in fluid communication with the fuel reformer and a temperature sensor in electrical communication with the air control valves.

